The Tennes family has been farming their 120 acre orchard in Charlotte for 42 years, and are one of only a few certified organic apple growers in Michigan. Working closely with Michigan State University researchers has allowed the Tennes family to experiment with various all-natural, environmentally friendly growing methods to produce the highest quality blueberries, peaches, and sweet cherries in the area. Their hard work and continuous dedication has transformed the farm into one of the most popular fall attractions in Mid-Michigan.
